The Conference 2022

The 2022 conference was a hit at this year's event, welcoming hundreds of guests as leading experts took to the stage to impart their knowledge and insights into the latest trends and innovations around the 4 key sectors. With topics ranging from sustainable plastic production, packaging in Kenya regulatory & policy frameworks, opportunities, sustainability, industry regulations and standards, there was plenty to see and learn

The results are in for Propak East Africa 2022!!

The statistics from this year's post-show report were impressive highlighting key milestones from the increased exhibitors and visitors to the wide products range making this show the most interactive with huge potential. The exhibitions and conference sessions within the event were a clear show that the Propak East Africa has grown and the 4 sectors represented in the event have a huge potential for growth
